Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 11 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Fine and very warm with sunshine. Fresher in coastal districts.

This Evening and Tonight:
Staying mainly dry during the evening and overnight, with a spell of cloudier conditions passing through southeast. Gradually becoming a little fresher for most later, but remaining rather warm and humid towards the Thames Estuary. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Saturday:
A generally fine, sunny and very warm day for many, with light winds. Feeling appreciably cooler than on Friday in coastal districts, with a sea breeze developing here. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Fine and very warm in this period, perhaps peaking on Monday, with warm intervening nights expected. Light winds throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.